“I had the pleasure of working with Lebohang for a year on our fast-paced development team. Throughout this time, he consistently impressed me with his can-do attitude and problem-solving skills. He possesses a solid foundation in web development, backend development, and SQL, and has demonstrated a remarkable ability to quickly learn and adapt to new technologies like Docker and Svelte. Lebohang is a strong analytical thinker, effectively tackling challenges and finding creative solutions. He is highly motivated, adaptable, and eager to learn and grow, readily embracing new challenges. As a team player, Lebohang actively engages with colleagues, and his communication skills have shown significant improvement. He also demonstrates a good understanding of time management and task prioritization, as well as a strong attention to detail, which is evident in his code reviews.
